Consultation Paper on Proposed Changes to Copyright Regime in Singapore

Join IP-specialist, Mr Daniel Lim from Joyce A. Tan & Partners LLC, for a lively discussion with an aim to crafting a response to the Consultation Paper.

This Seminar cum Feedback Session aims to:

1. provide participants with a bird's eye view of copyright law in Singapore;
2. inform you about the key areas of reform and their potential impact; and
3. give you the opportunity to provide feedback and help shape this area of law.

For a fruitful discussion, we would encourage participants to come prepared with a basic understanding of what these proposed changes are and questions for our speaker on the key concerns surrounding these changes.

Daniel Lim has been listed as a leading lawyer consistently through the years in a diverse range of publications such as Chambers Asia-Pacific, Asia-Pacific Legal 500, Asia Law Leading Lawyers, Practical Law Company's "Which Lawyer?" Who's Who Legal and Global Counsel 3000.

In particular, Chambers Asia-Pacific has noted that "Daniel Lim ... has a well established reputation in technology-related IP. Clients describe him as an extremely professional lawyer who "speaks well, knows the pros and cons, and always has the best solution at hand"; and is "an excellent patent litigation lawyer" according to interviewees".

The Asia-Pacific Legal 500 has listed Daniel as a Leading Individual for IT and Telecoms since 2001/2002 and has described him as "the 'smart and hardworking' Daniel Lim".

Daniel is a contributing author to the books "Law Relating to Specific Contracts in Singapore" (Thomson Sweet & Maxwell); "Intellectual Property" (Lexis-Nexis Butterworth's); "International Franchising" (Kluwer Law International); and "Employment Law Review" (Law Business Research Ltd).
